Dear Friends & Customers,

There are new regulations on the table put forth by the CPSIA to govern the sale of toys and apparel for children. These require manufacturers to test all products for lead levels exceeding 90ppm. Flipside Hats has tested its inventory, including our one-of-kind hats, and found that our materials are 100% compliant with the CPSIA current and projected lead level regulations. All of our materials and fabric tested lead free.

To learn more about the new regulations, google CPSIA, North West Children's Business Alliance, and the handmade toy alliance. There is a local movement of concerned manufacturers and retailers discussing the difficulty and financial and environmental burden of compliance with the new regulations. If you need a copy of our independent lab certified accreditation for your records, please email us: kori@flipsidehats.com.
